

CHIEF OF REVENUE SILENT AT CHARGE

Declines to Affirm Report
That Officers Were Connected With Plot.

HOPING TO SAVE WHISKY MATERIAL

Plant In South Washington Will Be Closed In Short Time.

Capt. James C. Wheeler, acting chief of the Internal Revenue Bureau, declined today to deny or affirm the report that a revenue agent may be involved in the alleged plot of the Capital Supply Company, distillers and wholesale liquor dealers, to defraud the Government by the manufacture of illicit whisky, at its distillery, in Fifteenth street southeast.

Following the arrest of James A. Cole, president of the company, C. E. Hall, secretary, E. C. Whitaker, in charge of the distillery, and Samuel Gormilton, a negro driver, it was rumored that a revenue agent would be brought up on charges of dereliction of duty, and a warrant might possibly be sworn out for his arrest.

"Whether any such action will be taken is impossible to say until the complete reports of the special investigators, who handled the case, reach me," said Captain Wheeler. "Verbal reports have been made, and so far no Government agent has been involved."

Liquor Men Surprised.

The raid on the company's distillery, and its subsequent seizure by Government agents, was a big surprise to liquor men in Washington. Revenue officers have assumed charge of the plant, which has a capacity of 100 gallons a day, and it will be closed down as soon as practicable without wasting material on hand and whisky in process of manufacture.

The place is not what is commonly known as an illicit still, but is a properly registered distillery, connected with which is a bonded warehouse. Briefly, the charge against the concern is that a portion of the product was being sent out and sold without either warehouse or revenue stamps, while, it is asserted, part of the whisky was put in the bonded warehouse and handled according to law. The tax on whisky is from 50 cents to $1.10 a gallon.

The Capital Supply Company has attracted considerable attention among the liquor men in Washington. The concern opened for business about a year ago in Tenth street northwest. Later it bought out the establishment of a wholesale liquor dealer at 480 Pennsylvania avenue.

Heavily Backed.

The company was said to be heavily backed financially, and was one of the firms that came North to do business at the time the temperance movement was rapidly spreading throughout the South. The company is said to have rapidly built up a large mail-order business.

The arrests were made after Special Investigators Flegel and Hansborough, of Asheville, N. C., had been working on the case for several weeks. The men were charged with violation of the penal code, alleged attempt to defraud the Government, rendering distilled spirits on which no tax had been paid, and carrying on the business for pecuniary intent to defraud the Government. Arraigned before United States Commissioner Ames S. Taylor, Cole and Hall were each held in $2,000 bond, which they furnished. Whitaker, who is said to be only an employee of the company, and the negro driver were each held in the sum of $250.

NEGRO SENTENCED FOR PART IN RIOT

Robert Bell Gets Ninety Days.
Companion in Fight Over Ball
Field Discharged.

Charged with assault on Harry Smithson in the race riot on the baseball diamond at Seventeenth and C streets southeast, Sunday afternoon, Robert Bell, a negro, was fined $30 and sentenced to ninety days in jail today in Police Court.

Tom Williams, another negro, tried on the same charge, was discharged. The fight started over a dispute regarding the possession of a baseball ground, the negroes being in possession when the whites arrived and refusing to leave.

Historical Pageants Presented By
Young People of Ipswich,
Mass.

IPSWICH, Mass., Aug. 25.—In a vast open-air theater, with a natural setting of wooded hills and grassy dells, several hundred young men and women of Ipswich and vicinity today gave the first performance in a series of elaborate pageants illustrating the early history of this section of New England.

The performances are to be repeated each afternoon during the remainder of the week. The scenes presented illustrate the life of the Puritans in England and in America, the coming of John Winthrop, Jr., and his company to Ipswich, the purchase of the land from the Indians, a colonial wedding, incidents of the Indian war and the beginning of the American revolution.

BIDS ARE INVITED FOR NEW BUREAU

The Treasury Department will invite bids next month for the new building for the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Congress has appropriated $1,250,000 for the new building. It is planned to build an annex to the present building. It will be 80 feet long, four stories high and three-fourths of its wall space will be glass. The idea is to use the present place as a storehouse. All paper money and stamps will be produced in the new structure.

Prince Victor Napoleon
Against Protest.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A Brussels dispatch to the Daily Mail reports that, after six years of waiting, the love story of Princess Clementine of Belgium and Prince Victor Napoleon is about to come to a happy climax, their marriage being now imminent.

When King Leopold heard of his daughter's intention to marry the imperial pretender to the throne of France he refused his consent. Owing to the King's objection Princess Clementine and Prince Victor ceased to meet, but remained faithful to each other.

TALKS WITH HUSBAND SUPPOSEDLY DEAD

Psychological Students Interested In Case Reported In Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—With all pulsation stopped and his body cold and rigid, Theodore P. Bailey, assistant manager of the Philadelphia office of the General Electric Company, continued to talk with his wife twenty-seven minutes after life was supposed to be totally extinct.

Such is the story vouched for by relatives at the deathbed and physicians and psychological students are much interested in the remarkable phenomena. How the man could talk after his heart had apparently lost all its action is a question that is a baffling one in medical circles.

SPIES SUSPECTED OF BEING OFFICERS

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—On the receipt of official advices from Emmen, it was learned today that the German authorities suspect two Englishmen captured in the Brandon fortifications of being disguised British army officers. Secret codes have been found on the men, and the German authorities have learned, it is said, that the men developed photographs of the fortifications.

Press comment is bitter, particular reference being made to the incident in connection with the German scare that agitated England a year ago.
